Response to Amendment

1. This action is in response to amendment filed on 04/16/2008. Claims 3, 8, 13 and 18 have been previously cancelled. Claims 1, 6, 11, 12 and 16 have been amended. Claims 1-2, 4-7, 9-12, 14-17, and 19-24 are pending examination.
2. Applicant's arguments regarding the 112 2nd rejection are persuasive, therefore the 112 rejection is withdrawn.

Claim Rejections – 35 U.S.C. 103

3. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

4. The factual inquiries set forth in Graham v. John Deere Co., 148 USPQ 459, that are applied for establishing a background for determining obviousness under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) are summarized as follows:

1. Determining the scope and contents of the prior art.
2. Ascertaining the differences between the prior art and the claims at issue.
3. Resolving the level of ordinary skill in the pertinent art.
4. Considering objective evidence present in the application indicating obviousness or unobviousness.

5. Claims 1-2, 4-7, 9-12, 14-17, and 19-24 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Sharp et al. US Pat. No. (6,263,317), in view of Hafner et al. US Pat. No. (5,839,076).

Sharp disclose order information receiving means for receiving via a computer global network 150 at least first and second order information of merchandise (See for example Col. 1, line 56); the first and second order information being formed based on respective first and second purchase requests received via respective first and second sales channels (i.e., first and second customers; See Col. 1, lines 54-58, see also fig. 1, which shows retailer 140 interpreted herein as the second sales channel) that use the network (See for example Col. 3, lines 14-17); means for instructing a supplier of said merchandise to supply the merchandise based on the stock information (see col.3 lines 35-60); means for grasping an actual sales condition of said merchandise in the first and second sales channels based on the order information (see col. 3 line 61-col.4 line 55).

Sharp Does not expressly teach generating stock control information to control a stock of said merchandise to be distributed to the first and second sales channels based on the first and second order information and indicating through which of the first sales channel and the second sales channel a purchase request was received.

However Hafner, teaches generating stock control information to control a stock of said merchandise to be distributed to the first and second sales channels based on the first and second order information (see at least col.5 line15-col.6 line41)

Both Sharp et al., and Hafner et al., fail to teach indicating through which of the first sales channel and the second sale channel the purchase request was received.

Examiner takes Official Notice that indicating through which sales channel a purchase order was received is old and well know in the art (as evident by Foster et al., US PG. Pub. No. (2003/0130905) see Para 0005, 0008-0010 and 0024). It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to modify the disclosure of Sharp and Hafner to include indicating through which channel a purchase request was received so that a merchant would know which channel or means to sell his merchandise in order to increase profit and to gather marketing data.

Re: Claim 4 Sharp teaches receiving order information via the internet (see col. 1 lines 50-60)

Re: Claims 5-6, 9-11, 14-16 and 19-20, the limitations of claims 5-6, 9-11, 14-16 and 19-20, are similar to the limitations of claims 1, and 4, therefore they are rejected based on the same rationale.

Re claims 2, 7, 12, and 17, these claims are rejected under the old Official notice rejection dated 4/7/2006, the rejection was not traversed by applicant therefore according to MPEP 2144.03(c) it is considered admitted prior art. Sharp et al. in view of Hafner et al. lack the specific teaching of stopping the supply of merchandise due to the sales debut of a new product. However, it is well known in the art to stop the supply of a product when it is about to be replaced by a new product and it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time of the invention to employ the step of stopping the supply of a product for a predetermined period before a new product is released, to prevent the accumulation of unwanted inventory.

Re claim 21-24: although Sharp does teach updating stock or inventory, Sharp does not expressly teach receiving an indication that the merchandise is returned or exchanged at the point of sale location. However Hafner teaches receiving an indication that the merchandise is returned or exchanged at the point of sale location (see at least col.3 line 64-col.4 line 15). It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to incorporate the teachings of Hafner into the disclosure of Sharp in order to better manage the merchants inventory.

Response to Arguments

6. Applicant's arguments have been considered but are not persuasive. In particular applicant argues, A) Sharp neither describes nor otherwise suggests plural sales channels; B) applicant traverses the Official Notice and request evidence from examiner.

In response to A) examiner respectfully disagrees. Applicant is reminded that claims must be given their broadest reasonable interpretation. Not only does Sharp teaches a first sales channel via a website on the internet as indicated by applicant on page 13 in the remarks, Sharp also teaches second sales channel which is in this case the retailer shown on Fig. 1 block 140. Therefore Sharp still meets the scope of the limitation as currently claimed.

In response to B) see evidence provided above.

Conclusion

7. THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.
